

Sustainable Oceans

Arendalsuka

Arendal 15th August 2018

Bjørn Kj. Haugland, Chief Sustainability Officer & Executive Vice President

We live in an exciting era

The World in 2030: Where are we headed?

A large colony of white seabirds, likely gannets, is nesting on a dark, layered rock cliff. The birds have white plumage and bright yellow heads. They are scattered across the cliff face, many sitting on nests made of dried grass and twigs. Tangled fishing nets in orange, green, and blue are draped over the rocks and nests. A dark blue semi-transparent banner is overlaid on the upper left portion of the image.

Coast of Norway 2018....

A large, powerful blue wave is crashing, creating a massive plume of white foam. The wave's face is steep and textured with deep blue water. The sky above is a clear, bright blue. The text "My call to action!" is superimposed in red over the upper part of the wave.

My call to action!

(1) One plan & One planet – Seventeen innovation platforms

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS: EXPLORING MARITIME OPPORTUNITIES

FIVE

OPPORTUNITY
AREAS

Interpret and bundle opportunities

- 1) Act on the Paris Agreement
- 2) Build sustainable communities & infrastructure
- 3) Protect life in the oceans
- 4) Create a sustainable future for the ocean economy
- 5) Promote responsible practices

UN Global Compact New Action Platform for Sustainable Oceans

(2) Seize and scale new ocean business opportunities

"We can not solve our problems with the same level of thinking that created them"

-Albert Einstein

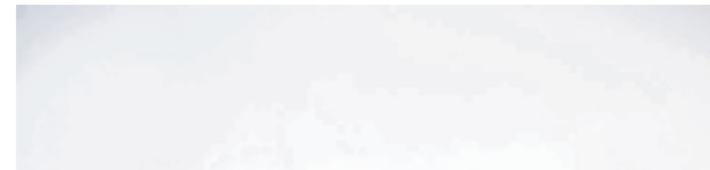

(3) Mindset shift: Change the story – change the world!

LEDERBA

Næringen må seile i Statsraadens kjølvann

Selveste Statsraad Lehmkuhl blir elektrisk. La oss håpe det bidrar til å få fart på en grønn omstilling i skipsfarten.

FÅR STØTTE: Miljøminister Ola Elvestuen (V) er på besøk i Bergen for å overbringe batterinyheten. «Statsraad Lehmkuhl» ligger nå i dokk på Laksevåg der det blir tilrettelagt for den nye driften. FOTO: JAN M. LILLEBØ (ARKIV)

«Statsraad Lehmkuhl» blir en av verdens første seilskuter med batteridrift

Thank you!

Purpose

To safeguard life, property and the environment

Vision

Global impact for a safe and sustainable future